VaporClient Terms of Service

Introduction

Welcome to VaporClient. By using VaporClient, you agree to comply with and be bound by the following Terms of Service. Please read them carefully.

License and Usage

License sharing

• The license granted for VaporClient is non-transferable and non-shareable. You are not permitted to share your license with others.

• Sharing of the VaporClient .jar file, credentials, or any part of the software with others is strictly prohibited.

Usage Restrictions

• You may not use VaporClient to crash or exploit servers that you own or on servers of friends.

• Debugging, reverse engineering, cracking or decompiling VaporClient is strictly prohibited.

• You are not allowed to use VaporClient on servers where you are uncertain of their origin or legitimacy.

• Using the software to spam on Minecraft servers to avoid potential fixes is strictly prohibited.

• 0day exploits can only be used on servers with verified DNS, find out more in the appropriate section

Prohibited Activities

• Resource Sharing: You are not permitted to distribute, share, or transfer the VaporClient software, including but not limited to the .jar file and access credentials, to any other individual or entity.

• Debugging and Reverse Engineering: Any attempt to debug, reverse engineer, decompile, or disassemble VaporClient is prohibited.

• Server Origin: VaporClient must not be used on servers where the source and legitimacy are unknown.

• Spamming: The use of VaporClient to spam on Minecraft servers, with the intent to prevent potential fixes or exploits, is strictly forbidden

Enforcement

Failure to comply with these terms may result in:

• immediate termination of your license and access to VaporClient.

• Legal action if necessary to enforce these terms and protect our rights.

Changes to Terms of Service

VaporClient reserves the right to modify these Terms of Service at any time. We will notify you of any changes by posting the updated terms on this page. Continued use of VaporClient after any changes constitutes acceptance of the new Terms of Service.

TOS DATE
23.06.2024